THURSDAY, JANUARY 11, 1900.

Good shirts are now desired by fashion. By securing bright red material and crossing a cow pasture the farmer can be done while you wait, or, rather, while you run.

Germany's attempts to crowd England on the ship-sinking incident seems to be of little avail, for the British Cabinet declines to even entertain the complaints. The Kaiser may have a mailed fist, but he evidently feels that the rest of his anatomy is not proof against the slipper of his grandmother, Queen Victoria.

No wonder the Chinese make such good laundrymen. With so many highlanders in their midst they can do the clothes lines at altitudes where garments dry quickly. Furthermore, they are mighty adept at whitewashing, as is shown by the way in which they stand in whenever any of their outrages are being aired in court.

The Japanese are giving another evidence of their evolution in the way they are handling the plague. Instead of submitting to it and sitting down and awaiting death, as they did in the old days, and as the Chinese do now, they are attacking the invader with every modern weapon. Old shanties where disease might lurk are being torn down and destroyed by fire, quarantine stations have been established and hygienic precautions instituted in every direction. The little brown man is not missing many tricks these days in the game of civilization.

SEATS FOR STORE GIRLS.

Oakland has once more succeeded in attracting the attention of the entire State, for the agitation inaugurated in the interests of female employees in stores is causing a great deal of comment. Needless to say, it is all one-sided and in favor of the proposed reform, for no matter from what standpoint it is considered, its principles of sheer humanity demand endorsement.

The fact that our statute books already contain affirmative legislation on the subject shows that every time it has been investigated conclusions in its favor have been reached, the law passed in 1889 decreeing as follows: "Every person, firm or corporation employing females in any manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishment shall provide suitable seats for the use of the females so employed, and shall permit the use of such seats by them when they are not necessarily engaged in the active duties for which they were employed."

While, however, there is a general acknowledgment that the reform is good in theory, the question is how to put it in practice. The issue, of course, is reached by the swearing to a complaint by any employee subjected to an infraction of the laws, but as this would undoubtedly mean the discharge of the applicant and her blacklisting as a matter in all the other stores in town, it is plain that that method is out of the question. It is this very liability on the part of those imposed upon to legally retaliate without sacrificing themselves, that has led to the statute becoming a veritable dead letter, and the only way out of the difficulty appears to be to create a sentiment in the community that will result in the merchants making the innovation voluntarily. It is upon these lines that the present movement is founded, and if it is continued with the same energy now being displayed it cannot fail to be fruitful of result.

As a common-sense proposition the merchants should be willing to make the concession without even remuneration. There is no more fallacious idea than that it looks more business-like for clerks behind counters to be standing instead of sitting when not actually at work, and no good argument can be advanced in support of the practice. It may, perhaps, be said that it breeds a habit of laziness among the clerks to have them seated, but surely it is more reasonable to think that they will be more opportunistic to rest between times they will be capable of doing a better day's work than if needlessly fatigued. The anti-seating practice is not only illogical, but it is inhuman, for, in many instances, sadly affects the health of young girls who are compelled to be on their feet from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. during a period of their life when their constitutions should be fostered and cared for in every way possible. The merchants of Oakland have in the past always claimed to be progressive, liberal-minded men. Let them prove it upon this occasion.

THE PACIFIC CABLE.

Apparently the only point that remains to be settled as regards the construction of the Pacific Cable is as to whether the work shall be undertaken by the Government or turned over to a subsidized private syndicate. That one or the other of these means will be immediately adopted is evidenced by the investigations of the Congressional committee, and judging by the developments, the situation is in favor of the private ownership proposition.

There appear to be many difficulties in the way of the Government undertaking the work, not the least formidable of which is its financial status. It is claimed that to construct and equip a line from San Francisco to Honolulu, Guam, Midway Islands, Manila, Shanghai, Hongkong and Japan would cost $25,000,000. In addition to which, according to Admiral Bradford, special cableships would have to be obtained, as none of our war vessels could be properly fitted to lay the lines. As against this, the private syndicate calling itself the Pacific Cable Company of New York, offers to immediately commence the work of construction and to have the cable in operation to Hawaii by January 1, 1902, and to Manila and Japan by July 1, 1902. As subsidies and bounties, it asks $400,000 a year from the Government for a term of twenty years, in return for which all official dispatches will go free, and furthermore, the cable is to pass into the hands of the Government absolutely in time of war. A private rate of 35 cents a word to Honolulu and $1 a word to Manila, China and Japan is guaranteed, press rates not to exceed one-quarter of that schedule. After the twenty years' agreement with the Government ceases and the bounties stop official dispatches are to be paid for at the regular private rates.

While there are many reasons why it would be preferable to have the line in the hands of the Government, at the same time, so many points are involved that there should be no jumping at such a conclusion. The argument seems a good one that if a private concern can see its way clear to investing its capital in such an enterprise, the Government could not lose by undertaking the work itself, and that private business would pay the expenses of the line, leaving the Government a gain of the $400,000 a year to be paid in bounties. But as against this, there is the fact that it amounts more or less to speculation, and unless the point, should the Government engage in private enterprises. All of this, of course, opens up the much-discussed issues of Government ownership of railroads, telephones, telegraph lines and so forth, and as that ground has been so well threshed over in the past, there is no occasion to recur to it again. Congress in its good judgment, after thoroughly weighing both sides of the case as now being presented to it, can be relied upon to cast its verdict on the right side, so all that need immediately concern us is that the indications are most promising that the cable will be laid at once—a piece of news over which we on the Pacific Coast have good reason to rejoice.

The good, hard coin of Walter Rorson's relatives has again succeeded in squaring a case for him. When he was recently arrested in New York for the cold-blooded attempt to murder a student named Slater the authorities and newspapers there held up their hands in holy horror at the fact that he had practically escaped prosecution in San Francisco for a similar offense. When the case came up for hearing, though, it was thrown out of court for lack of complaint, and it is an open secret that large sums of money were used to bring about this result. These scales that justice holds seem to be easily tipped by twenty dollar gold pieces.

The individual who is always claiming that there are no opportunities nowadays for a man to become rich or famous unless he gets a big start in life or discovers a gold mine, will be silent when the case of Senator Beveridge of Indiana is mentioned. He was a plow-boy at 12, a laborer at 14, a law student at 20, and a United States Senator at 37, every step up the ladder having been made by his own unaided efforts. Here is an up-to-date example for the American small boy, instead of going back to the days of George Washington.

A regiment of 1,000 volunteers from Nebraska is about to leave for South Africa to join the Boers. Why cannot some one induce Billy Bryan to go with it as its Colonel? He has already had experience in leading a forlorn hope, and as the Democrats are not over anxious to have him figure in that capacity again this year as far as they are concerned, the African war will give him all the opportunity he can possibly desire. He would be in his element, anyhow, fighting the gold men.

The Senate is not alone in its work of passing resolutions regarding the Philippines. Aguinaldo doubtless engaged in the same task New Year's Day by resolving to keep mighty quiet in future when in Uncle Sam's presence. He is probably very sorry that he blew himself on that golden dictatorial whistle, for he has had little or no opportunity to use it.

It is announced by the San Francisco reform administration that pulls can no longer be worked in the police courts. The push, however, will doubtless continue to do business at the old stand.

Snapshots Taken on Broadway

THE TRIBUNE'S photographer had a busy time of it on Broadway yesterday. He met Councilman F. R. Girard at Twelfth and Broadway at noon. Mr. Girard was telling the boys the "dangers" to be encountered by taking a drink in a saloon.

The friends of County Auditor J. Cal Ewing are trying to induce him to play the role of Richard III in a charity performance to be given soon at the Macdougall. Our photographer has just caught Ewing in the act of saying: "Alas, Ewing is himself again." Ewing uses the knife that Dr. Crowley used when he cut open the Auditor's hand.

Judge Ogden is not enjoying life. He confided to one of his friends that he wished he were in Filipinas or Alameda. Our photographer caught him at the Court House steps just after he rendered his decision "That a husband may stay out all night and give his wife the horse laugh in the morning."

TO A DEAR INCONSTANT.

As still amid the flux of times
And purposes great hangings,
Some force subsists that makes for Beauty,
And something through the chaos stirs,
So bid ye favored daughters,
Or airy flights or proud-based wings,
Some wistful instinct gropes for Duty,
And still o'er all your vaporous moods,
Love, like a clouded heaven, broods.

Dear, trust the still, small voice, distrust
This flattering court of lesser selves,
The tricky swarm of smiles and elves,
Intermed with sly usurping lust.
To drag the central "you" to dust
And render more the sovereign "must."
That sends them scurrying to their deities.

Let their gay friskings serve to grace
Thy reign,
But be thou Queen by work and love and pain.
—L. Zangwill in Collier's Weekly.

MAIDEN LANE—1862-1900.

Down Maiden Lane, where clover grew,
Sweet scented in the early air,
Where sparkling wells went shuddering
through
Their grassy banks, so green, so fair,
Biting little maids from Holland's lair,
Went tripping, laughing each to each
To bathe the flax, or spread a band
Of linen in the sun so bleach.

More than two centuries ago
They wore this path—a maiden's lane—
Where no such waves of commerce flow
As never dazed a burgher's brain.
Two hundred years ago and more
These thrifty dames, one by one,
With pump, round arm, sheer linen bore
To dry on Mama-ha's sun.

But now! Behold the altered view:
No tender sword, no bubbling stream,
No laughter—'tis a reality true,
Or but the fancy of a dream?
Where the harsh wash is a by-way sweet,
The floor of stone, a grating plain?
Oh! vanish maiden city street,
And let us stroll down Maiden Lane!

How Judge Ogden Can Stop Many Divorce Cases.

"I will," she exclaimed, "I will not live with you another day!"
"You'll leave me, will you?" he calmly asked.
"Yes, I will."
"When?"
"Now—eight o'clock—this minute."
"You'll go away?"
"Yes, sir."
"I wouldn't if I were you."
"But I will, and I defy you to prevent me," she said, and her hands as long as I can put up with it."
"Oh, I shan't try to stop you," he quietly replied. "I'll simply report to the police that my wife has mysteriously disappeared. They'll want your description, and I will give it. You wear No. 1 shoes; you have an extra large mouth; you walk stiff in your knees; your nose turns up at the end; eyes rather on the squint; voice like a—"
"Verily, you wouldn't dare do that," she screamed.
"I certainly will and the description will go in all the papers."
They glared at each other a moment in silence. Then it was plain to be seen he had the dead wood on her.—Ohio State Journal.

HAYWARDS, Jan. 11.—The Board of Trade of Haywards held a big meeting last evening and discussed matters of interest to the town. President H. B. Brunner called the meeting to order.

The matter of having Castro and B streets improved was discussed, as was also the condition of the county road beyond the Hecker place.

Action was finally taken on the matter, and Messrs. Gray and Powell were appointed a committee to wait on the Supervisors and make known the desires of the Board of Trade in regard to improving the streets.

M. C. Peterson and J. B. Parsons were appointed delegates to the Fruit Growers' Convention at San Jose.

Some time ago the Board of Trade asked for free rural mail delivery. At the meeting last evening the following letter from Congressman Metcalf was read:

"House of Representatives, Jan. 2, 1900. Haywards Board of Trade: I herewith enclose a letter from the First Assistant Postmaster General, which explains itself.

The special agent has been ordered to make an examination and to report without delay. Sincerely yours,
"V. H. METCALF,"
Postmaster General, Office of Free Rural Delivery—Replying to your personal inquiry as to the establishment of a free rural delivery at Haywards, I have the honor to inform you that the papers in the case were referred to the special agent in charge of the Western Division of rural free delivery on the 10th of October last, but in consequence of a change of assignment of the agents of the Pacific coast there probably has been a delay in making a report upon the matter.

"I will endeavor to see that immediate attention is given to this proposed service. Very respectfully,

TO GIVE STREET TO THE BOYS.

Cuvellier Would Assist the High School Pupils.

Several Matters of Importance Before the Street Committee.

"The pupils of our High school should have the use of Eleventh street during the noon hour," said Councilman Cuvellier at the meeting of the Council Committee on Streets, Tuesday night. "I am going to do everything in my power to see that they have it."

The High school is very much congested at present, and the grounds have been planted there is no place for the boys. Most of them are between 15 and 19 years of age, and they are full of fun. As a result they get into the habit of kicking up a racket. Now, if a chain could be stretched across Eleventh street, at Eleventh and Grove streets, during the noon hour and at recess time, it would afford the pupils a recreation ground and would not inconvenience any of the residents in that vicinity. The park is on one side and the building on the other side of the street. It is in favor of turning over Lafayette square to them if we could legally do it."

Glard said that the idea had been conceived several years ago, but that it had been found that it would be legal to use the streets for such purposes. The matter was finally referred to Chairman Meese, who will confer with City Attorney Low and School Superintendent McClymonds.

The Street Committee also recommended to the Council that the resolution directing the City Engineer to provide for future specifications for street work that curbs should be of concrete, be resurfaced, it was stated by the committee in the annexed and other outlying districts, cement curbs were unnecessary.

It was recommended that the Oakland Paving Company be granted an extension of sixty days' time to grade, curb and macadamize Thirtieth street from Broadway to West, owing to the delay in completing the sewer in the thoroughfare.

The petition of C. J. Cameron for a sidewalk on Park street from East Ninth to East Tenth streets, was recommended to be granted and a resolution giving property owners fifteen days to do the work was adopted.

The application of the Transome Concrete Company to grade, curb and macadamize Tenth avenue, from Twentieth street to East Tenth, was recommended.

The protest against sidewalking East Tenth avenue, from East Twelfth to East Twenty-second streets, was recommended to be granted and a resolution giving property owners fifteen days to do the work was adopted.

It was recommended that Street Superintendent Miller be authorized to repair the Broadway pavement at a cost of $500. This request of the city engineer was made for a catch-basin at Seventh and Henry streets was laid over.

It was recommended that the Board of Public Works be authorized to construct a crosswalk at Thirtieth and Harrison streets.

The petition of the Paradise Paint Company to extend the Snyder avenue sewer was laid over for a report on the subject from City Engineer Cameron.

It was recommended that a sixty days' extension of the time granted to the Piedmont Paving Company for paving Webster street from Fourteenth to Nineteenth streets.
